"I saw that apple hanging there, and I knew I had to have it for my own!"

Sometimes it takes a little cooperation to make the healthy choice! Postville after-school club kids visited Seed Savers and instantly fell in love with the Historic Apple Orchard.

FFI Transitions to New Leadership Structure

FFI has an integrated and complex leadership structure with multiple components of community engagement through team meetings and work group sessions. For the first five years of the work, this structure has served them well because it facilitated widespread ownership, awareness of the initiative, and momentum across six counties.

Now, FFI is transitioning to governance by a Regional Leadership Council that will provide oversight for the Initiative on a quarterly basis. An Operations Team will meet more frequently to manage the daily activities between work groups.

The Regional Leadership Council reflects the broader make-up of the region, including members who give voice to the thinking of traditionally marginalized groups and youth. Consideration is also given to members who can bring access to resources for sustainability.

The first meeting for the new Regional Leadership Council is set for November 27.

As we reflect on this season of Thanksgiving, we are thankful for our partners and friends. We couldn't do this work without you!

FFI Expected to Receive Extended Funding

The W.K. Kellogg Foundation is continuing its investment in the Northeast Iowa Food & Fitness Initiative (FFI). With the continued support, the initiative now moves from the implementation phase to an extended funding phase with a focus on long-term sustainability.

Collaboration has been a trademark of the FFI for the last five years. Six rural counties--Allamakee, Chickasaw, Clayton, Fayette, Howard, and Winneshiek-- have worked together to improve the health and well-being of children and their families in the region.

Their work has been grounded in the principle that they can do more by working together.

The growth has been accompanied by tremendous change and numerous accomplishments, which speak to the strength of this collaborative endeavor.

FFI staff work diligently to keep long-term partners engaged in the work, bring new partners to the table and sustain efforts to create vibrant communities where the healthy choice is the easy choice.

FFI Recognized at 2012 Nourish Iowa Awards

On October 12, the Iowa Food Systems Council (IFSC) recognized FFI at the 2012 Nourish Iowa award ceremony.

The Northeast Iowa Food & Fitness Initiative is grounded in the work of these core partners:

- There was a Squash Election at N. Winn
- 16 schools participated in Home Grown School Lunch Week, October 15-19
- Read how Postville students said “Goodnight” to their school garden for the year.
- New Hampton students learned how to mix it up with kale.
- West Central students learned how much better they feel when the school wellness groups are turned on.
- S. Winn high school students came to the rescue when their school was locked down and their food service staff were locked out!
- Clayton Ridge food service staff went all out for Home Grown School Lunch week and served local food all week!
- MFL Mar Mac students fell in love with cabbage.
- Kids say the darndest things. But in all fairness, sometimes the terms we use are confusing. Read how one Valley students initially thought “sustainability” was the ability to stain things; and how one Turkey Valley student wondered why RC Melanie’s shirt said, “Food Crops.”
- UNI’s CEEE partners with FFI to serve area schools. Seven school districts are piloting a regional, cycle menu that includes local foods: Decorah, Postville, Turkey Valley, South Winnebago, Waukon and Cresco and Starmont.
